REPORT ON THE ONE-WEEK SHORT-TERM COURSE IN GENDER SENSITIZATION

FROM 20.12.2021 TO 25.12.2021

The overview and evaluation of the One-Week Short-Term Course in Gender Sensitization conducted by the UGC-Human Resource Development Centre at Rani Durgawati Vishwavidyalaya, Jabalpur.

INTRODUCTION:

The One-Week Short-Term Course in Gender Sensitization aimed to foster awareness, understanding, and sensitivity regarding gender-related issues and inequalities in society. It was structured to equip participants with the knowledge and tools necessary to promote gender equality and create inclusive environments.

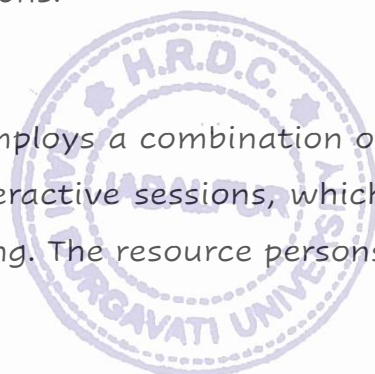

Course Content:

The course covered a comprehensive range of topics related to gender sensitization, including:

- a. Understanding Gender Constructs: Exploring the concepts of gender, gender roles, and their societal implications.
- b. Gender-Based Violence: Discussing various forms of gender-based violence and strategies for prevention and intervention.
- c. Legal Framework: Examining relevant laws and policies related to gender equality and women's rights in India.
- d. Intersectionality: Recognizing the intersections of gender with other social identities such as caste, class, and sexuality.
- e. Communication and Sensitivity: Developing effective communication skills and strategies for promoting gender-sensitive conversations.
- f. Gender Mainstreaming: Identifying approaches to integrate gender perspectives in various sectors and institutions.

Pedagogical Approach:

The course is online on the Zoom Platform and employs a combination of lectures, group discussions, case studies, and interactive sessions, which encourage active participation and critical thinking. The resource persons and facilitators were highly knowledgeable and engaged participants effectively.

Key Takeaways:

- a. Increased Awareness: The course significantly expanded my awareness of gender-related issues and inequalities, enabling me to recognize and challenge gender biases.
- b. Empowerment: I feel more empowered to advocate for gender equality and inclusivity in my personal and professional life.
- c. Networking: The course provided an excellent platform for networking with fellow participants and experts in the field, fostering potential collaborations.
- d. Skills Development: I acquired practical skills, such as facilitating gender-sensitive discussions and designing gender-inclusive programs.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

The following recommendations for the improvement of future courses:

Diversity of Perspectives: Encourage a diversity of voices and perspectives among resource persons and guest speakers to provide a broader understanding of gender issues.

Follow-up Activities: Organize follow-up sessions or webinars to provide ongoing support and knowledge sharing among course participants.

REPORT ON 104TH ORIENTATION PROGRAMME

INTRODUCTION

The 104th Orientation Programme for Assistant Professors in Higher Education Institutions was conducted from August 26, 2019, to September 14, 2019. The programme aimed to equip 29 participants with the necessary skills, knowledge, and insights required for their roles in higher education institutions. This three-week-long orientation programme was organized to foster professional growth and development among the participants.

OBJECTIVES

The primary objectives of the orientation programme were as follows:

- To familiarize participants with higher education institutions' academic and administrative policies and procedures.
- To enhance participants' teaching and research skills.
- To provide insights into effective classroom management and pedagogical techniques.
- To promote interdisciplinary collaboration among participants.
- To introduce participants to emerging trends and technologies in higher education.
- To create a platform for networking and knowledge sharing among participants.

PROGRAMME HIGHLIGHTS

Week 1: Academic Policies and Teaching Methodologies

During the first week, participants were introduced to the academic policies and regulations governing higher education institutions. Key topics covered included:

- Curriculum development and assessment techniques.
- Ethical considerations in academia.

- Classroom management and student engagement strategies.
- Effective use of technology in teaching.

Guest lectures by experienced academicians and interactive workshops were conducted to facilitate discussions and share best practices.

Week 2: Research and Interdisciplinary Collaboration

The second week focused on research methodologies and interdisciplinary collaboration. Highlights of the week included:

- Research proposal development and grant writing.
- Strategies for conducting high-impact research.
- Team-building exercises to promote interdisciplinary cooperation.
- Field visits to research centres and libraries.

Participants had the opportunity to interact with faculty members from various disciplines, fostering a culture of interdisciplinary collaboration.

Week 3: Emerging Trends and Professional Development

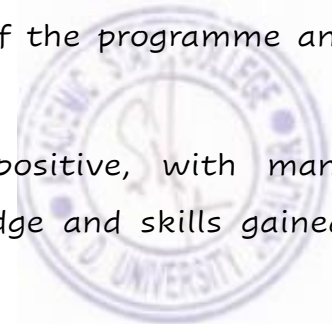

The final week of the orientation programme covered emerging trends in higher education and professional development. Topics included:

- Online and distance learning trends.
- Career development and growth opportunities.
- Preparing participants for administrative roles.
- Graduation ceremony and certification.

EVALUATION AND FEEDBACK

Throughout the orientation programme, participants were evaluated through assignments, quizzes, and group projects. Feedback sessions were conducted to assess the effectiveness of the programme and make necessary improvements.

Participant feedback was overwhelmingly positive, with many expressing their appreciation for the knowledge and skills gained.

Suggestions for improvement included the inclusion of more hands-on workshops and extending the duration of the programme.

CONCLUSION

The 104th Orientation Programme for Assistant Professors in Higher Education Institutions successfully achieved its objectives of equipping participants with essential skills, fostering interdisciplinary collaboration, and keeping them updated on emerging trends in higher education. The feedback received will be invaluable in shaping future orientation programmes.

REPORT ON SHORT-TERM COURSE IN RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

INTRODUCTION

A one-week Short-Term Course in Research Methodology for faculty members of Higher Education Institutions was conducted from December 30, 2019, to January 4, 2020. The course aimed to equip 40 participants with essential research skills, methodologies, and techniques to enhance their research capabilities. This intensive program provided faculty members with the tools and knowledge necessary to excel in their academic research pursuits.

OBJECTIVES

The primary objectives of the orientation programme were as follows:

- To familiarize participants with various research methodologies and techniques.
- To provide hands-on training in data collection, analysis, and interpretation.
- To enhance participants' understanding of ethical considerations in research.
- To promote effective communication of research findings.

PROGRAMME HIGHLIGHTS

Day 1: Introduction to Research Methodology

The first day of the course focused on introducing participants to the fundamentals of research methodology. Key topics included:

- Research paradigms and approaches.
- Research design and formulation of research questions.
- Data collection methods and instruments.
- Participants engaged in group discussions and practical exercises to reinforce their understanding of these concepts.

Days 2-3: Data Collection and Analysis

The second and third days delved into data collection and analysis techniques. Highlights of these days included:

- Surveys, interviews, and case studies as data collection methods.
- Introduction to statistical software for data analysis.
- Hands-on data analysis exercises.
- Ethical considerations in data collection.
- Participants actively participated in data collection exercises and received guidance on conducting data analysis using statistical tools.

Days 4-5: Research Ethics and Communication

The fourth and fifth days were dedicated to research ethics and effective communication of research findings. Key topics covered included:

- Ethical considerations in research involving human subjects.
- Plagiarism and academic integrity.
- Preparing research reports and papers.
- Presentation skills for conferences and publications.
- Participants engaged in discussions on research ethics and practised presenting their research findings.

Day 7: Conclusion and Certification

The final day of the course involved participants presenting their research proposals and receiving certificates of completion. The day concluded with a closing ceremony.

Evaluation and Feedback

Throughout the Short-Term Course, participants were assessed through quizzes, group projects, and presentations. Feedback sessions were conducted to evaluate the effectiveness of the program.

Participant feedback was overwhelmingly positive, with many expressing their appreciation for the practical knowledge and skills gained. Suggestions for improvement included providing more in-depth training on advanced statistical analysis techniques and extending the course duration for more comprehensive coverage.

CONCLUSION

The One-Week Short-Term Course in Research Methodology for Faculty of Higher Education Institutions successfully achieved its objectives of equipping participants with essential research skills, fostering ethical research practices, and promoting effective communication of research findings. The feedback received will be valuable in shaping future research methodology courses.
